Connecting student iPads to personal WiFi:

Students need to authenticate to the NESC web filter when using their iPads on a personal wifi connection just as they do then at school. To do so, student should launch the "Login" app on their iPad and enter their username and password. Anytime the iPad is transferred to a different location it receives a new address and the student will need to login. Students should be familiar with this process as they do so every morning upon arrival at the school.

How to log into Google Classroom:

Students receive their assignments as well as access their textbooks from Google Classroom. Students have an app on their iPad for Google Classroom. (The application has a green chalkboard on it.) When they launch the classroom app, it will direct them to a list of the classes they are enrolled in. From here they can access assignments, textbooks, and other materials for their classes.

How to download an assignment to GoodReader:

GoodReader is an app provided to students that allows them to download content for use offline, as well as a tool for completing homework assignments. Students typically received their assignments in Google Classroom then complete the actual work in GoodReader. Students need to first open Google Classroom. Next, they will select the class they wish to download an assignment from, and select the assignment. Wait for it to load completely. In the top right of the screen you will see a small circle with an "i"in the middle. Touch the "i" and choose "open in." A new box will appear. In this box select "open in" again and choose GoodReader. This will open the assignment in GoodReader.
